

From the Proprietor...

JUNE 27th, 2011

The release of our 2008 Russian River Chardonnay and Pinot Noir started with an internal tug of war, here at Lynmar Estate. Because of the continued growth of our direct sales (now 83% of our total production of 8500 cases), we were forced to eat into the two Russian River Valley AVA wines that are usually reserved for national distribution. This compromise leaves us with 1000 cases of 2008 Russian River Valley Pinot Noir and 650 cases of 2008 the Russian River Valley Chardonnay – both of which received 92 points from the Wine Spectator.

We are just completing the allocation of these cases to our distributors throughout the US and the three overseas markets. As you all know, we focus on key off-premise accounts that work with us in each market, year in and year out – and who we wish to support. This is my main criteria in establishing allocations.

As head of National Distribution, as well as General manager, please call me if you have questions or suggestions, so we can not only continue to supply ultra-premium wines, but ultra-premium service with the communication to go with it.

Continuing excellence from LYNMAR ESTATE

Lynmar Estate is excited to bring you our latest round of excellent awards and scores. In 2011 we have received scores from Wine Spectator (WS) and Stephen Tanzer's International Wine Cellar (STIWC) and Wine Enthusiast Magazine. The highlight of the year thus far came from the San Francisco International Wine Competition where our 2009 Quail Hill Vineyard Pinot Noir received the 'BEST IN SHOW RED' distinction.

See our other awards from the San Francisco International Wine Competition in addition to all of Lynmar's 2011 scores below and on the following page.
